

St. Johnsbury Center.Wedding Reception.

On the return of Mr. and Mrs. Perley D. Bacon from their wedding trip, Friday evening, a pleasant surprise awaited them. They found the pleasant lawn at "The Elms" illuminated with Japanese lanterns, tables set, and about 100 guests awaiting them. A sideboard, many choice pieces of silverware and table linen, two parlor chairs and many other gifts reminded them of the friendship of those present. Rev. Mr. Donaldson made the presentation remarks, which were responded to by Mr. and Mrs. Bacon. Ice cream and cake were served and a pleasant evening spent.

Children's day was observed last Sunday by the Congregational Sunday school. Mr. Fisher gave a very interesting talk in the morning on "Origin of the Bible." In the afternoon the young people gave a concert that was much enjoyed by a large audience. Much praise is due Mrs. Drew and her assistants for the interesting exercises of the day.

Rev. Mr. Worthen, who recently bought the Lyford place, has taken down the old barn and has a new one well under way.

Mrs. Henry Kelley returned from Brightlook Hospital last week where she has been for a short time. She speaks in high praise of the kind care and treatment of patients there.

Miss Ida Lyford has gone to Bellows Falls where she will make her home for a time.

A service will be held in the Universalist hall next Sunday, conducted by Rev. A. F. Welch of Somerville, Mass.

And Pity 'Tis, 'Tis True.

Editor CALEDONIAN—A passenger on a train coming to St. Johnsbury is taken insane, and, in response to an imperative message from somebody who thinks he should be taken care of, he is met by officers of the law. He is wisely put under restraint pending communication with his friends.

A pitiable condition he was in, truly; and there was need that he should be cared for.

What follows? A gaping crowd—men, and young boys and even girls, attracted to the police station by the unusual occurrence, and allowed to hang about the premises, peering into the windows, listening at every crack, to sate a morbid curiosity.

All through the afternoon and evening after the arrival of the train—yes, and from an early hour the next morning, this crowd was allowed—as it never should have been—to make a common show of the unfortunate man, when every interest of humanity demanded that the hangers-on should be dispersed from the outset, and kept away. Notable Installation at Corinth.

Rev. M. C. Henderson, is in Corinth, taking part in the installation of Rev. Almond Shepherd as pastor of the Free-will Baptist church of that place, which is scheduled to occur today. This ceremony is of peculiar interest because of the fact that although Mr. Shepherd is in his 90th year and has held pastorates in this denomination for about 64 years, this is the first time he has ever been regularly installed as pastor over a church. The explanation is that in this denomination it has not been the custom until recent years to install its preachers as pastor, although they might serve for years in that capacity in one parish. Mr. Shepherd is the oldest minister of the denomination in the state and is still hale and vigorous. He went to Corinth May 1. Mr. Henderson, who is to preach the installation sermon, ranks next in point of age.

Married at Burlington.

The most brilliant society wedding of the season was that of Miss Anna Parmelee Wells and James Greenleaf Sykes, at Burlington, Thursday. The ceremony took place in the Unitarian church at noon, Rev. Joel H. Metcalf officiating. This was followed by a reception at the beautiful home of the bride, from 12.30 until 2, after which a wedding breakfast was served. The groom's sister, Miss E. Louise Sykes, of Dorset was one of the bridesmaids, and his brother, Bernard Greenleaf Sykes, was one of the ushers. The bride was charmingly gowned in white satin with yoke and sleeves of Rose Point lace, which was also used upon the front of the skirt, where it was caught with bunches of orange blossoms. She wore a veil with orange blossoms and carried a shower bouquet of orchids and lilies of the valley. Her only jewel was a Byzantine gold heart pendant mounted in diamonds and emeralds. She has been very prominent in social life in Burlington, and the groom is well and pleasantly remembered here.

Letter to R. B. Flint.

St. Johnsbury, Vt.
Dear Sir: Postmaster Noyes, of Gardiner, Maine, says the Evans House there, was painted with Devco in '82, and again in '94—twelve years—and the paint was sound, though of course the color had faded.

R. W. Haines, Hotel Coburn, Skowhegan, Maine, uses lead and oil, and has painted four times in eleven years.

Both hotels have been well cared for; the costs are as five to one. We say generally the costs are as two to one—that's enough.

Yours truly,

F. W. DEVCO & CO.,

REECE FOLDING MACHINE Co.

Capital Stock, $1,000,000. Par $10.

Full paid and non-assessable.

Factory: 502 Harrison Avenue, Boston, Mass.

We have been authorized by the Directors of the above company to offer for public subscription 2000 shares of Treasury stock at $4.00 per share.

This issue of Treasury stock is for the purpose of providing funds for the immediate enlargement of the capacity of the factory as the company now has on hand large orders for machines which the Collar and Cuff Manufacturers are anxious to secure as soon as possible.

The Company is now in complete control of the Folding business, having recently closed a deal which gives them all the patents on Hand Turning machines formerly operated by the United Shirt and Collar Co.

This means the success of the business and the stock will earn and pay large dividends.

BASIS OF EARNINGS.

The royalty basis upon which the machines operate gives a certain income which increases with every machine put out. We have just returned from a personal inspection of the factory and business and are well pleased with the outlook. We are able to state on official authority that the company will be operated independently of any Trust, if one is formed, and we are advised on good authority that such a thing is unlikely at the present time, and the stockholders will get the benefit of all the earnings.

This is a home industry which every stockholder may inspect if he wishes and has none of the purely speculative and wildcat features which characterize the numerous propositions offered investors at the present time.

We are in position to secure the only reliable information regarding the company and are ready to furnish it to all interested. Right reserved to reduce the number of shares subscribed for.
